Overview

The Matterhorn of the Himalaya

The most beautiful peak in the Khumbu and one of the world's great technical objectives - Ama Dablam's exposed south-west ridge of rock, ice and the famous 'Dablam' hanging glacier is a serious, exhilarating climb for experienced mountaineers.

Ama Dablam (6,812 m) is one of Nepal's classic 6000m objectives, climbed from a base camp in the Everest region with a careful acclimatisation plan and a strong local climbing crew.

We run it as a fully guided expedition - fixed lines on the technical ground, experienced Sherpa support and generous summit windows - so you can focus on the climb itself.

Highlights

- Iconic south-west ridge
- Genuinely technical climbing
- Above Everest Base Camp trail
- For experienced alpinists
